1919.

THE MONTH.

The COLLEGE closed for the Easter holidays and the Long Vacation on Thursday the 17th April and re-opened on Wednesday the 2nd July. After the re-opening of the College, it closed on Thursday the 3rd July, out of respect for the memory of the late Principal Ramendra Sundar Trivedi, whose untimely death has deprived Bengal of a true man, a ripe scholar and a devoted educationist.

The new classes (First Year Class—5 sections) have commenced work but there will be some delay in forming the Third Year Class as well as the special sections for the plucked Intermediate and B. A. Students.

THE COLLEGE UNION held its second sitting on Monday the 14th April, from 7 to 9 P. M. Considering that it was the Bengalee New Year's Day and the night of the full-moon, the Union might be considered as having had its Natun Khata as well as its Purima milan on the occasion. There was the usual varied entertainment of music, the reading of papers and a sumptuous repast. Professor Pulinbehari Kar graced the occasion with a poem on the inauguration of the Union (which is printed in the body of the Magazine); Professor Panchanan Mitra gave his colleagues a sample of his researches on the Antiquity of man in India—which was a curious conglomerate of Geology, Archæology and Anthropology! Professor Panchanan Ghoshal read a humorous paper on Kalidashe. nesha and Professor Davendranath Mukherjee read another humorous paper entitled Okalatir Moha; this last was supplemented by Professor Lalitkumar Banerjee with the reading of an excerpt on the same topic from Bangali-charit, a well-known humorous production of the late Jogendranath Bose of Bangabasi fame. On the whole, the affair was a great success and at the closing stage of the sitting, the Principal treated his colleagues to a neat little speech in which he expressed great satisfaction over the esprit de corps that was so much in evidence in the College Union.

THE COLLEGE ASSOCIATION gave a social entertainment to the students and staff on the eve of the Long Vacation on Thursday the 17th April from 6 to 9 P. M. The programme is printed below :—

The performance of many of the students was highly entertaining, especially the 'Mimicry of Stammering' by Sj. K. D. Banerjee of the First Year Class so took the house by storm that Professor D. N. Mukherjee simply voiced the feeling of the entire audience when he offered a prize to the clever young man. Light refreshments in the best style followed the recitations and dramatic exhibitions. It may be added that the students raised subscriptions among themselves for meeting the incidental expenses but the Principal was so well pleased with the whole affair that he made an announcement that he would defray all the expenses—an announcement that was received by the assembly with loud and prolonged cheers.

THE COLLEGE-SCHOOL celebrated its annual gathering and Sports on Saturday the 3rd May in the morning hours. The Principal of the College presided and there was a varied and interesting programme (too long for insertion in the pages of the Magazine) of songs, Recitations, renderings of select scenes in English and Bengalee followed by drill and gymnastics. The proceedings wound up with the singing in chorus of 'God Save the King,' the whole assembly standing. Light refreshments in the best style were served before the guests and the gathering parted with three cheers for the President and other honoured guests.

THE RESULTS.

The results of the I. Sc. Examination were published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 18th June. 727 have passed in the First Division, 415 in the Second Division and 37 in the Third Division, bringing up the total to 1179. The total is higher than last year's by more than 200—a proof of the growing zeal for Science evinced by the young men of Bengal.
